

Sulzer is to take the witness stand in an effort to cast herself between her husband and his prosecutors is still open.

The Governor himself has announced that under no circumstances will he permit his wife to take the stand. Against any prophetic value this announcement may have is the testimony that he himself was the man who originally brought Mrs. Sulzer's name into the case.

The Governor will spend the week-end settling what rest he can. He will spend part of the time conferring with his lawyers, but the latter insist that he get more sleep than he has been getting, and that in his working hours he search his memory for all the transactions in which he has figured.

It became known to the Sulzer lawyers today that the prosecution is planning, in case the defense rests, to ask the court for permission to introduce supplementary testimony against him. This motion they will fight bitterly. It must be remembered that only a majority of the court is necessary to decide matters of this kind, and the two-thirds vote being required only for conviction.

No Harm Meant.
As far as could be learned today, the further attempts to approach the case of the court were made by outsiders. Some of the members were highly indignant that such a thing had been done, and were inclined to instigate but the man who talked with the outside said he believed no real harm was meant, and the matter was dropped.

Mr. Herrick and Austin G. Fox, for the defense, appeared when court met today to argue the motion for a dismissal. Mr. Fox did not proceed far when Judge Cullen interrupted him.

"The court does not wish to appear to rule on your motions in advance," he said, "but the question practically disposes of some of the objections of the general character of which you have spoken."

Makes Apology.
Isidor J. Kresel, who on Tuesday questioned the correctness of the books of Harris and Fuller, and got a hot reply from Mr. Fuller, today made in open court a complete apology, admitting that the books were absolutely correct and that no erasures had been made by the firm or its employees.

Mr. Fuller, who was in court, bowed and smiled when the apology was concluded. It was learned that Kresel had been instructed to apologize by Alton B. Parker, who is the senior counsel for the prosecution.

BYRD GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO GLASS

Thinks Virginian Has Handled Currency Measure in Manner Highly Creditable.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]—Richard Evelyn Byrd was a White House visitor today, but said to The Times-Dispatch correspondent that he was not there to see for patronage. "I think," said Mr. Byrd, "that the President has had enough patronage matters put up to him since he has been in the White House. Therefore, I did not mention such things to him today, nor have I done so yet."

"I want to say," Mr. Byrd continued, "that I think when the currency bill passes, as it likely will, that the President will have made a most excellent record for constructive administration since he went into the White House. When we consider the many obstacles which have beset his path in these matters, it is most remarkable that he should have achieved the great success which he has."

Praise for Mr. Glass.
"And right here I want to say a word for Virginia's chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee—Representative Glass. Of course, it is well known that Mr. Glass and I have not always agreed upon many important matters, but in all fairness to him I will say that he has made an excellent record for himself in the handling of the currency bill before the House.

"He has managed it, not only with success, but with an ability that speaks well both for himself and for his State—Virginia. We are always proud to see Virginians do things, and I will say that, in my opinion, Mr. Glass has not only done something, but done it well."

Virginia Patronage Comes Later.
Mr. Byrd, when informed that, according to rumors, some important Virginia patronage matters might be expected to develop soon, said that as already stated, he had been at the White House, but not to discuss patronage matters, but he did not deny that there might be something interesting for the public soon. As a matter of fact, it has been an open secret for quite a long time that Virginia matters might be expected to develop when other projects were out of the way.

While there is no denying the fact that Mr. Byrd holds a strong hand in shaping the disposition of patronage matters in Virginia, cause of his having been one of the most prominent Wilson men in Virginia before the election, he is not yet ready to say what there is "in the air."

WILEY AT FAIRFAX.

Crowd of Four Thousand Attends Second Day of County Fair.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]—The Fairfax Courthouse, Va., October 2.—The Fairfax County Fair opened the second day with an attendance of about 4,000 against 600 the first day. An interesting and instructive address was made by Dr. Harvey Wiley, of the Department of Agriculture, in the afternoon, the music being furnished by a military band from Fort Meyer. A troop of Boy Scouts was present from Washington, being entertained in the afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Woolley. Unfortunately, a drenching rain in the afternoon marred the pleasure of the crowd.

DEMOCRATS STAND REPUBLICAN PROUD AND ENACT TARIFF

There was a difference of opinion on this subject, and the majority view prevailed.

William Alden Smith made a long speech denunciating the bill, because it contains "all the bad points of the Canadian reciprocity, with none of even the few redeeming features of that piece of legislation." The resentment of the American farmer at Canadian reciprocity, he said, would be nothing like the indignation at the way they had been slaughtered in this Democratic tariff bill.

Criticize O'Gorman Amendment.

Senators Borah and Burton criticized the amendment proposed by Senator O'Gorman to exempt the interest of municipalities in the incomes of public utility corporations. They held it to be ambiguous and liable to cause a total exemption of all such incomes and a consequent loss of revenue. Senator Williams defended the provision, and held it to be perfectly intelligible and specific.

Senator Penrose, ranking Republican on the Finance Committee, was chief in command of the critics of the bill.

There never was a minute throughout the day that he was not on the job. He criticized and pointed out the disasters that would follow the Democratic attempt to reform the tariff. He dealt with the subject from a humorous standpoint, and established quite a reputation as a witness. Senator Penrose had a barrel of fun over "Garner's goat," the "Texas ruminant" that was saved from the free list in conference and given a 15 per cent protection.

Simmons Replies.
After Senator Penrose had denounced the secret methods of the Democratic conferees and the "iniquities" of the party caucus, Mr. Simmons replied:

"We have learned very recently that the Senator from Pennsylvania has seen a new light. Many of his votes upon this tariff bill indicate that he has suddenly become a radical Progressive, but the Senate and country understand that the elections last year in Pennsylvania condemned and repudiated the Senator's standpoint, and he is now trimming his sails for the next election."

"Oh," retorted Mr. Penrose, "let us not throw up these unpleasant incidents of the past. I shall never forget the impressive spectacle presented to the body when the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. Simmons), in a suit of gray clothes and with the thermometer at 102 in the shade, harangued a listening Senate for three days, urging that he be needed by the consumer to be the most vicious item in the whole tariff bill, a duty upon lumber. He has changed, and I have changed in accordance with the law of evolution and development and progress. He has gone backwards, while I have gone forward and upward."

Penrose and Publicity.
"I want to ask the Senator from Pennsylvania," inquired John Sharp Williams, as he stepped across the aisle that divided the opposing forces, "whether the Republican party proposes that in its next campaign it shall fly a banner upon which shall be inscribed the legend, 'Penrose and Publicity'?"

"I am perfectly willing," retorted Mr. Penrose, "to have that inscribed on my banner. But I will not need a banner, this bill will return Pennsylvania to the Republican column by 200,000 majority."

Referring to Mr. Penrose's charge that the bill had been constructed in secret, Mr. Simmons replied that "the Senator from Pennsylvania has had enough to do with the preparation of tariff bills in secret at the dictation of special interests to be an authority on that subject."

Follow Washington Conference.

Washington, October 2.—The arrests today of George Davis, of New York, and Harry Jones at Indianapolis on charges of conspiracy in connection with the McNamara dynamiting cases followed a conference here yesterday between Attorney General McHugh and Charles W. Miller, United States attorney at Indianapolis. Officials were reticent today regarding possible further moves, but the impression was gained that there would be other arrests.

DAVIS CONFESSES DYNAMITE CRIMES IN MANY PLACES

Pennsylvania Railroad at 6:30 o'clock this evening in charge of Deputy United States Marshal Joseph Kund.

Confession Is Important.

New York, October 2.—William Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association, said to-night:

This arrest and Davis's confession are important because they go to show that officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers planned to go ahead with the dynamite conspiracy to draw suspicion from the McNamaras. We should have arrested this man Davis before. If we had had the evidence to convict him.

"At the trial of the McNamaras and at the Indianapolis trial facts in relation to various dynamiting jobs in the East were disclosed, but the confession of Davis reveals the names of the persons responsible."

Attempt to Wreck Plant.

Coudersport, Pa., October 2.—An attempt to wreck the plant of the Potter Enterprise was made early to-day. No one was in the building at the time.

To explode the charge a tunnel had been made from an alleyway under this part of the building.

The Enterprise is published by M. T. Stokes, who formerly was engaged in newspaper publishing in Ohio. The paper has been conducting a very vigorous campaign on local issues. A reward of $500 has been offered for the arrest of the perpetrators.

Jones Is Arrested.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 2.—Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, arrested here today on a charge of conspiring to transport explosives unlawfully, was released on $10,000 bond late this afternoon. His hearing was set for October 13, before United States Commissioner Howard S. Young.

The arrest is a result of the confession made by George E. Davis, alias George O'Donnell, arrested in New York today. In the confession, Jones is charged with aiding Davis in his dynamiting work in the East.

Same as Other Charges.

The charge against Jones is the same as charges on which thirty-eight of his fellow-unionists were convicted in the Federal court here last December, and sentenced to the Federal prison at Leavenworth for terms ranging from one to seven years.

With the exception of H. S. Hockins, who succeeded John J. McNamara as international secretary-treasurer when McNamara was sentenced to San Quentin prison for his part in blowing up the Los Angeles Times building, all of the mentioned defendants here have appealed their cases to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago.

The appeals are set to come up this month, and to-day's developments considered of great importance at the United States district attorney's office, in that many missing links are supplied by Davis's confession.

Government Better Equipped.

It is said, would be better equipped to go into a second trial should the Court of Appeals so rule.

Two men, Orrie E. McLaughlin and L. D. Davis, who actually did much of the dynamiting work, testified for the government in the trial here last fall, and Davis, who is expected to plead guilty soon after being brought to this city, would be a third dynamiter to testify in case of a second trial.

No statement could be obtained from the international headquarters of the union here.

A new man in the dynamite case, he was financial secretary of New York Local No. 46, and was elected international secretary-treasurer at the convention held here last January.

W. C. T. U. CLOSES ANNUAL SESSION

Plan to Commit Legislative Candidates to Temperance Program Discussed.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Lynchburg, Va., October 2.—Early morning sessions marked the fourth and last day of the annual meeting of the Virginia Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Reports of the body at each session. These reports have been lengthy and of a statistical nature, showing wonderful strides made by the organization in eliminating the saloon from Virginia towns and cities, and the distilleries from the rural districts.

Memorial services to those who have died during the past year were held before the routine work of the day's session began. On the part of officials in the enforcement of existing laws and a plan for the commitment of legislative candidates throughout the State to the temperance program was later discussed. The body was later adjourned.

Annual Rally of Baraca Class.

Bristol, Va., October 2.—The Baraca Class of State Street Methodist Church, this city, has just held its annual rally. This is the largest class of its kind in the world, and is so recognized by Marshall Hudson, founder of the Baraca rally. 1152 members. Joe L. Taylor, a Bristol merchant, is president of the class. R. M. Crumley is vice-president; Charles H. Harnett, secretary; and Judge Joseph L. Kelly, teacher. There are more than 3,000 Baraca classes in the world.

William Walter Wall.

Winchester, Va., October 2.—William Walter Wall, seventy-four years old, prominent in business, in Democratic politics and Confederate circles, died today, just one year after the death of his wife, Mrs. Mary Barr Wall, of the Civil War he was confidential courier for Colonel (afterwards Governor) Charles T. O'Ferrall, and was with General Turner Ashby when he was killed at Gettysburg. Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. C. Fred Barr, and Miss Julia Wall, of Winchester, and Mrs. George Dalgetty-Kerr, of Lynchburg; two sons, W. Taylor Wall, of Winchester, and Harry Wall, of Norfolk; one sister, Mrs. James Barr, and one brother, Thomas T. Wall, of Winchester.

Funeral of Miss Hettie Smith.

Charlottesville, Va., October 2.—The funeral of Miss Hettie Smith, who died yesterday afternoon at her home on Carlton Avenue, after an illness of several months, took place at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Bethel Church.

Funeral of Mrs. Myrtle Jones.

Winchester, Va., October 2.—Mrs. Myrtle Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Walls, died in the home of her parents here last night after a lingering illness. Besides her parents, she is survived by three young children, her husband having preceded her to the grave six months ago. The funeral will take place from the house to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be in Cedar Grove Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Dr. J. T. Whittier, pastor of the Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. F. W. T. Pittman.
